This seems to have worked in most cases, but I cannot get rid of a booking com app and something called Flipboard.

Right-clicking the tile simply brings up the 'uninstall' routine from the settings (control panel) with no clue as to what program I should uninstall.

This document pertains to HP and Compaq PCs that came with Windows 7 installed HP Recovery Manager is a software program for Windows that comes with HP's consumer PCs.. I've now unpinned all the tiles so I've cleared the start menu - but booking.com still comes up in the apps menu under 'B' How can I delete these stubborn apps? (And the windows 10 email client as well which refuses to die!). ae05505a44 Geogebra Mac Download
